

Arant: SN 09/397,325

Target Market: The target market for this invention is people who wish to be creative in writing or composing information, and who want to speed up their work with the aid of modern technology, but do not want to substitute the thinking of a machine for their own thinking.

The Invention: Merging the optimum ease of operation with minimum eye strain and effort.

Crucial Claim Language: From Claim 32:

"...known transfer location while visibly displaying each of them there..."

"...manually adjusting ... the dwell time..."

"...after adjustment..through the same transfer location ...".

With allowance of Claims 17-23 the Examiner has acknowledged that an invention is present. It is believed that cancellation of Claims 33, 34 and the present clarification of Claim 32 now brings this application into condition for allowance.

Respectfully submitted,

Gene W. Arant
